ALL CHILDREN BACK TO SCHOOL!

DID YOU KNOW?

AROUND THE WORLD, FOUR MILLION REFUGEE CHILDREN ARE OUT OF SCHOOL AND MISSING OUT ON THEIR RIGHT TO AN EDUCATION DUE TO DISPLACEMENT, POVERTY AND EXCLUSION.

WHY IS SCHOOLING IMPORTANT?

- THE ROLE OF SCHOOL IN OUR LIFE, a school, promotes interest and empowers them with opportunities to become successful individuals.
- THE IMPORTANCE OF EDUCATION OF CHILDREN. School is the primary guide for children to educate. It offers them the ability to learn about different fields of education, including human development and relationships, literature, culture, mathematics, politics, and several other topics. This helps to improve the mechanism of reasoning. If one is subjected to stimuli from diverse cultural backgrounds, the environment and life become magnified.
- THE SOCIAL ASPECT. School is the first opportunity for an infant to become socialized. Until then, the only individuals with whom the infant has interpersonal contact are the parents and extended family members. A lack of awareness can be stagnation. Children in schools are not only introduced to new concepts, but also maintain connections with the elderly, who share a common citizenship. This generates sociable behaviors such as empathy, fellowship, engagement, and encouragement that are essential in one's adult life.
- MENTAL ASPECT. School is the basic foundation of knowledge for kids. I gives chance to learn about different fields of Education, including human development and relationships, literature, culture, mathematics, politics, and several other topics. This contributes to the increase of thought processes in children.

WHY DOES A CHILD NEED TO GO TO SCHOOL?

- Schools play a significant role in human development. When children communicate with others, they can be exposed to new things. At college, they have access to study materials. Moreover, it is an informal way to educate an individual. The systematic requirement for schooling must be discussed.
- Schools provide the majority of the structured schooling one needs to survive in society. It helps a person to develop his / her academics so that he/she can support society. The child is, therefore, better able to function in the community. Schools also prepare students, through their contact with other individuals, to better appreciate other backgrounds, values, and feelings. The school education importance helps
- an individual to consider the distinctions and similarities with other cultures. Schooling helps one to appreciate other peoples' ideas and traditions. We will exist in harmony and goodwill with each other by loving each other. Schooling improves a person's speech and confidence. Going to school is a way to form meaningful relationships that can often remain constant throughout life. Schools shape the cornerstone of a person who will ultimately be integrated into the mental and physical development of society.
